Student Life

This year the halls of La Salle were crowded with many new faces, adding confusion and something more. As the enrollment increased, so did our friendships. We each went our own ways—together. The back stairway never ceased to be filled with crowded groups of laughing students. Arriving to class on time was a feat in itself. With so many new acquaintances, the five minute passing time hardly seemed long enough. As the days went by and new relationships flourished, the confusion increased to greater proportions. And we loved every minute of it.

What we lacked in space, we made up in spirit. Our days were filled with an electric excitement unequaled in the past. With each new friend, each new day, the spirit and unity of La Salle strengthened. La Salle had finally developed a tradition that we were determined to uphold. We fought for that which meant so much to us. The cheerleaders helped us to achieve an enthusiasm that never failed to keep us confident that we would reach our goals. With so many students combining their efforts, it is not surprising that 1969 was a complete success.

The turbulence of lunch hour never diminished. We all looked forward to this time of gathering, talking, laughing with our friends. This year the lines were longer and the tables more crowded. The race to get in line became routine, but we remained patient. This was the best part of the day, and the time went by all too quickly.

push pull walk run no time no time stop go don't stop riding gliding one two black white hurry hurry in out yes no next ase next please faster faster line up on your mark, ready set . . . WAIT!

But in those silent moments alone in thought, the reality of growing up was always with us, the desire to achieve was strong. Through the qualified faculty and ever-increasing facilities each of us could strive to satisfy our needs—we had the opportunity to “do our own thing.” Our achievements, whether big or small, were nevertheless ours. The feeling of pride was our only reward—but it was more than enough.

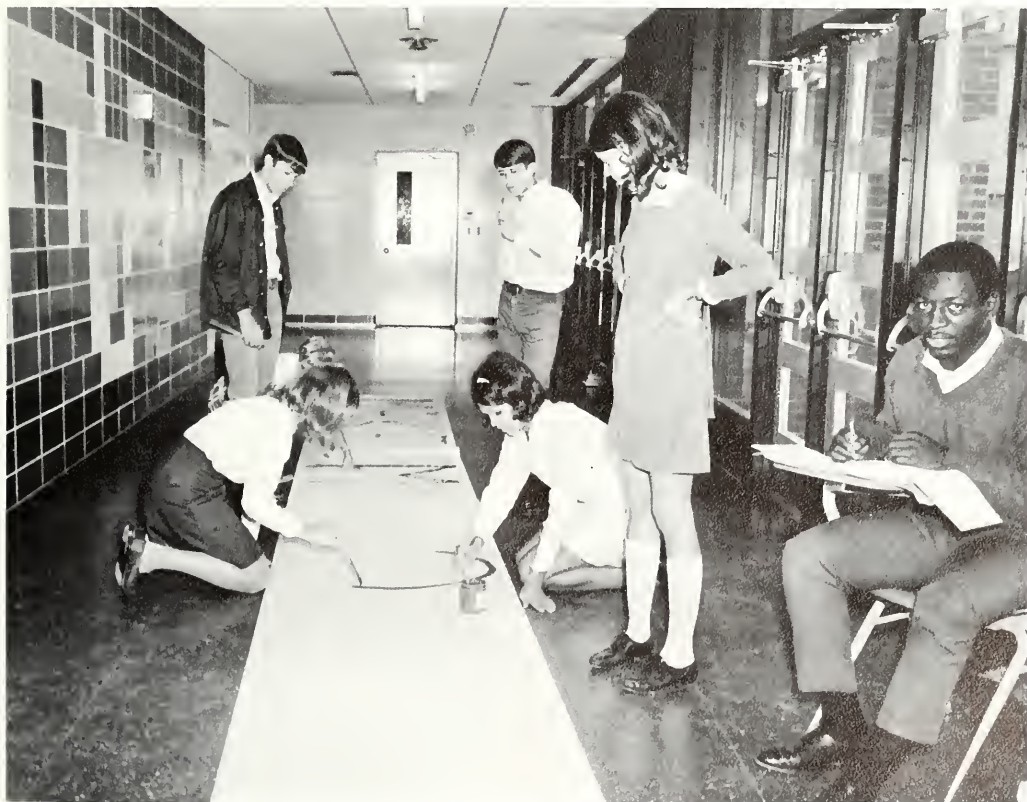

We accepted the challenge of learning with great concentration. There were many hours spent in the search for knowledge. It took place in the classroom, the library and in the halls. We discovered new truths which made us more aware of how much we really didn't know, truths that inspired us to look harder, delve deeper, reach higher to find the answers to universal problems. We often become frustrated and confused—but we never stopped searching.

We worked to build something constructive and lasting that we could be proud of. Merging our talents and efforts helped us to succeed. Each of us found the key to working together in harmony. We learned as we did what we enjoyed best. The opportunity for self-expression was available through music, art and creative writing. We had no problems in finding the means to satisfy our individual needs. There was something for everyone. Whether working together or alone, the ultimate goal was the same: to become better people and help to create a better world. In the process of reaching this goal we learned that in life one not only has a responsibility to himself to do his best, but also to society.

But even amidst the apparent and energetic boisterousness of the year, the students of LaSalle did not lose sight of their goals. Each of us strived to better the young people's image. We remained constant in our desire to achieve. Through our efforts, we contributed to make our community and school a better place in which to live. Each experience brought a new awareness of the world around us. Utilizing our energies and knowledge we searched for ourselves. In this search we also achieved a clearer understanding of others . . . and we are better people for it.

Quality Leadership

The administrative leadership at LaSalle is largely responsible for the spirit, the mood, the tone of the school. The high quality at LaSalle is in no small degree the result of active and understanding people in positions of authority. Mr. Nelson, Mr. Gilkey, Mr. Kasana, Mr. Barack, Mr. Grubb, and Mr. Hendricks all have at least one attribute in common; LaSalle students soon recognized that they really care. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Gilkey and the counselors care about qualitative teaching; they care about a well-rounded education; they care about a complete program of extra-curricular activities; they care about the school and the community; but, most importantly, they care about the individual student and his individual problems.

Mrs. Monroe

Not only were LaSalle's secretaries efficient and industrious, but they were also caught up in the activities of our school. Each one was an active LaSalle booster. This loyalty was appreciated by the LaSalle student body. Almost every student had some contact with Mrs. Gerhold and Mrs. Swanson, and both of these ladies, even in the midst of the countless complexities of school detail, were always gracious and patient and pleasant. They were always willing to help and each one did countless tasks that her job definition did not include. Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Monroe were busy behind the scenes, contributing in many inconspicuous ways to LaSalle.

Mrs. Stevens, the school nurse, was a capable and understanding friend of the students. We soon found that she was firm but sympathetic when we were really ill. We grew to know her and respect her.

The food was better than ever this year. Mrs. Kodba and her staff will have difficulty improving the meals next year. But we all know that, somehow, they will do it.

The LaSalle custodial staff, headed by Mr. Divjak and Mr. Witzak worked maintenance miracles this year. Sometimes short of supplies and manpower, the custodians always rallied to the cause. They were well-liked by the faculty and students, and their cooperation was greatly appreciated.

A practiced eye will soon discover that the LaSalle library has made enormous strides since its bookless beginning four short years ago. The excellence of the library is a direct reflection of the diligence and labor of Miss Larson with the help of Mrs. Burns. Pamphlet and periodical materials have grown considerably and the number of volumes has increased rapidly. Library Club members have also contributed greatly through the years to help with the many details of library work. Most of all, LaSalle students have learned to appreciate the pleasant atmosphere of the library and willingness of the staff to serve the students and make the library not a tomb but an active and exciting place in which to learn.

The Art Department continued building its excellent reputation in creating some of the finest work in the city. Always concerned with freedom of expression tempered with the difficult to learn artistic discipline, Mr. Stivers and Mr. Fotiou patiently and enthusiastically helped many students learn the skills of the artist. Advanced art students began to develop their individual styles and were encouraged to work in their favorite media. Numerous art awards were won by LaSalle students and more than a few have decided that art will be an integral part of their future occupations. Once again, the annual Paint-In was a huge success, indicating that art can have appeal for the masses as well as for the few.

World of the Future

The Business Department is involved with, perhaps, the most practical course in school. The actual skills of typing, book-keeping, and shorthand can be used by students almost immediately for part-time jobs and eventually for secretarial positions after graduation. Other students graduated with rudimentary knowledge in business training, especially in typing, that they will put to good use as college students. Still other students became knowledgeable about some of the modern machines; such knowledge has proved to be invaluable when applying for a job. The teachers and students were also often called upon to do various kinds of office work as a service to the school—programs, typing, duplication. Such tasks were always cheerfully accepted and provided valuable training for the students. One such job, that of operating the new composer, made it possible for LaSalle to be the first school in the corporation to publish its own newspaper entirely by students within the walls of the school.

Writing, and Speaking

At a time when "lack of communication" was often listed as the cause of the numerous difficulties of the world, an increasing number of students seemed to turn a more attentive ear to the ideas expressed by the great writers of the world. Mr. Nugent and the English Department have always encouraged a thoughtful and disciplined student search for the mysteries of life, the profound question that have difficult answers or perhaps no answers at all. The school library was utilized more than ever before as students sought information about the many problems posed by textbooks and teacher. Reading and discussion are necessary elements in learning to communicate adequately, but English students were made aware that writing, too, was a necessary ingredient. Countless themes, reviews, term papers demanded thousands of students hours of inspiration, perspiration and frustration. But each sentence inched the student nearer to his goal: to communicate effectively by learning the art of writing clear and uncluttered prose. While the popularity of math at LaSalle and the sciences cannot be doubted, there was a growing feeling that science had no answer for the most perplexing problems of our day, and that such problems could only be answered after a careful look at the Humanities.

Discovering the Known and Unknown

In a society that yawns at the impossible, that nonchalantly accepts a man on the moon, the LaSalle Science Department kept its students frantically and excitingly busy at the job of keeping pace with scientific advancement. In high school, however, the fundamental foundation of the natural laws must be taught to provide students with the structure beyond. The basic concepts of chemistry, physics, and biology provide the inspiration to continue a scientific career. Fascinating new techniques, equipment, and methodology combined to inspire many LaSalle students to work above and beyond the call of duty, to work for the sheer joy of enlightenment. For other students, science provided general information that has become increasingly necessary to know in our progressive and science-oriented world.

Smoking can be dangerous to your health

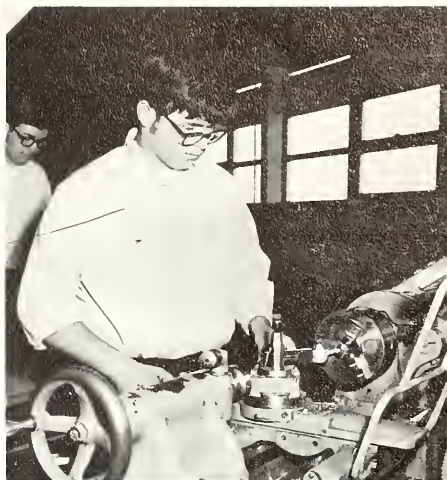

Health classes at LaSalle stressed physical well being, but were also concerned with mental and emotional illnesses as well. The importance of Health is unquestionable but often neglected or overlooked; however, at LaSalle, all students are made aware of the dangers of ignoring good health practices. The able leadership of Mr. Barkley, Mr. Gleason, and Mr. Eberhard enabled students to learn the facts and to be impressed by them. The frank and positive approach to difficult and sometimes delicate subjects made the course a popular and valuable one. Every student was soon made aware that good health is of primary importance for a successful and enjoyable life.

Industrial Arts: Career or Hobby

The shops at LaSalle were always packed and buzzing—sometimes roaring—with activity. Hall showcases were filled through the year with projects that amazed the onlooker and were visible assurances that numerous architects, carpenters, engineers, machinists, mechanics, and electricians would be prominent among the graduates of LaSalle. All of the shops were extremely well equipped, and the graphic arts department added a new press and a composer with which the graphic arts classes began printing the Explorer in January, a first in South Bend. The Industrial Arts department continued to respond to the needs of LaSalle by using their talents for printing, repairing, construction, and operation of school equipment. An amazing number of school functions owe their success in part to the cooperation of the industrial arts department.

Home Economics—

Cooking, sewing, and family living were the fundamental areas of interest and learning offered by the LaSalle Home Economics Department. Directed by the able guidance of Miss Dienhart and her staff, the students of LaSalle were able to learn the fundamentals and advanced students began to excel. Students soon became aware of the pride in doing a job well, and future homemakers realized that the skills they were learning would contribute in a meaningful way to a happy home. In addition to the practical knowledge of cooking and sewing, students were able to search out solutions for the many problems of family living. The skills learned in cooking and sewing and the concepts learned in family living are the kinds of learning that will pay rich dividends time and time again throughout each student's lifetime.

LaSalle students vigorously attempted to master the sometimes complicated world of foreign language; German, French, Spanish, Russian, and Latin. As usual we found out the importance of building an inner discipline, a discipline that freed us to work each day without exception so that we could regularly accumulate the steady flow of daily information. We discovered that a foreign language did not become enjoyable until we were informed; then, it became an exciting and exhilarating experience. Language clubs, the lab, field trips, and foreign exchange students were interesting, but the rewards of language study proved to be the feeling of satisfaction that comes with translation. The ability to read and write a foreign language more than compensated for the many agonizing hours of study.

The mysteries of the world of mathematics unfolded for many LaSalle students. From business arithmetic to calculus, from trade math to analytics, math students solved the riddles of numbers. Mr. Hawkins and his excellent staff were able to excite many students, some of whom will continue in mathematics or related fields in college. The emphasis on logical reasoning in any math course can have far-reaching effects, and the encouragement to be accurate, to be precise, will contribute to a sense of individual discipline that can have a constructive influence on our lives. Students generally agreed that math developed a sense of curiosity, a desire to prove a point rather than meekly accept it without understanding. This attitude carried over into other classes and proved, once again, that the entire LaSalle curriculum has been carefully related so that a student can obtain a complete education.

In an election year and in a year of strife at home and abroad, the information stressed in the social sciences became highly significant. Not only did we learn about the past, but we were also inspired by the LaSalle Social Studies Department to apply our newly acquired knowledge to make some judgment concerning the present. We discovered many parallels to the problems of 1969, and we also decided that there were some newer problems for which there was no precedent. We learned that there were no easy answers, but we also learned that the great men of the past never stopped seeking those answers. Whether we studied U.S. history, world history, government, sociology, economics, or international relations, we discovered that the textbook details did not really live until we delved beneath the surface by reading and studying collateral materials. The inspiration provided by the social studies teachers provided us with new insights of the past, a new understanding of the present, and a new hope for the future.

As usual, the band, orchestra, and vocal music departments at LaSalle provided us with some of our biggest thrills. This year all three were bigger and better than ever. Whether the musicians were in concert or assemblies, the student body in 1969 grew to be especially appreciative of the quality of music being displayed. Hundreds of students participated and hundreds more were entertained. In only four years, the superior leadership of Mr. Singleton, Mr. Fisher, and Mr. Vogel have made the LaSalle Music Department an outstanding success, and they have been leaders in developing the tradition of excellence at LaSalle.

Vigorous physical activity was an integral part of the students' schedule this year. Calisthenics, games, swimming, and tumbling were all utilized in the physical conditioning so necessary in our lives today. LaSalle's creed has always included the complete education of its students, and the Physical Education Department combined work and fun to make gym classes a valuable part of our education. In addition to the need for physical conditioning, the department also realized the importance of teaching lifetime recreational activities; consequently, we learned about tennis, golf, bowling, and, perhaps most rewarding of all, many of us were given the opportunity to learn to swim. Intramural sports and recreational periods also added to the complete program at LaSalle.

Student Council Projects Prove Successful

The representatives of the Student Council main function was to deal with problems confronting the school. They carried out their aims with the co-operation of students and teachers. One of the projects of the Student Council this year was collecting and distributing Christmas baskets for needy families in our area. The Council sponsored a dance in the fall and the first semi-formal, Sweetheart Ball, in February. They were also responsible for supervising the operation of the voting machine in many school elections. The Council also planned the football homecoming ceremonies. Near the end of the year, the Council participated in the annual City-Wide Student Council Exchange. Under the guidance of Mr. Miller, the Student Council completed an organized and active year.

One of the Council's responsibilities was the operation of the voting booth.

Lions Got That Power

Over the past four years, tradition has been built by the enthusiasm of the student body. Helping to arouse this spirit was an aim of the Booster Club. They worked hard this year at the many projects that are so vital for the success of each school function. They urged student attendance at all sports events by presenting enthusiastic pep assemblies. Every day members used their free hours to paint and hang the posters which decorate our halls. The Booster Club also worked hard at having buses available for students who needed transportation to games. Another important project of the Club was the planning of a successful basketball homecoming. Each representative took part in the sale of bright buttons with slogans to help raise money for their many projects. With the help of their sponsor, Mr. Hughes, the Booster Club ended a year of activity that every student at LaSalle should be proud of.

The band has become an important member at all our school functions. They practiced diligently for the half-time activities at the football games and gave many stirring programs. They also gave a boost to the cheerleaders in our cheers during the pep assemblies and basketball games this season. Out-fitted in their scarlet uniforms, they were often seen in the area parades. Under the expert leadership of Mr. Singleton and his assistant Mr. Norman, the band presented a successful concert to the student body. The majorettes and drum major, Gary Vandusen, helped accent every marching program. To accomplish these polished performances, the band members spent many hours in practice, as well as marching. They not only performed for our student body, but gave concerts for some of the feeder schools as well. The LaSalle Band has become a well organized and successful group this year.

The officers of the band this year were: Curtis Wilson, Jim Forest, and Karen Boyles.

Assistant conductor, Mr. Norman, leads class in practice.

Promoting classical music is the aim of any orchestra, and LaSalle's orchestra has done this admirably as well as demonstrating their talent. Through practice and much hard work on the part of each member, the orchestra has proved itself to be an accomplished part of our music department. In January, they presented, along with the band, a concert for the students and their parents. Not only have they performed for the student body but have given concerts for the feeder schools as well. Again this year the members of the orchestra participated in the annual music contest and proved that they were accomplished musicians. A new look for the orchestra appeared this year with their formal coats and long skirts. It gave a special air of seriousness to their presentation of finer music. Under the expert guidance of the conductor, Mr. Fisher, the orchestra proved themselves to be a successful and skillful part of LaSalle.

In January, they presented "The Glass Menagerie," a play by Tennessee Williams. The Cast included Candy Judah, Lillian Doherty, Larry Nyikos, and Rich Ronay. Their third production, "The Importance of Being Ernest," by Oscar Wilde, appeared in the spring. Many of the members of the Drama Club spent hours rehearsing and constructing sets. Much work was done behind the scenes to insure the accomplished performance each production achieved. Under Mr. Stover's guidance, the Drama Club managed to complete a successful and entertaining year.

Keep Students Well Informed

This year the staff of the Lantern began its work as soon as the school opened its doors. Pictures had to be taken, people identified, layouts achieved so that each page was balanced and deadlines had to be met. The members of the staff contributed many hours to their pages. The photographer had to be on hand at all times to record on film everything usual and unusual that happened during the year. As each deadline was met a certain feeling of success and satisfaction was felt by all. Our supervisor, Mr. Merriman survived our many mistakes and often unusual problems and offered the much needed advice. The job of managing the payments this year was handled expertly with the help of Mrs. Swanson in the bookstore. The success of the Lantern was based on the hard-working staff and the memorable events of the year.

The main purpose of the Explorer was to supply the student with the daily news of school life and the newspaper staff carried out this purpose admirably. Each staff member had to keep himself informed of sports results, club activities, future events as well as school gossip and report all the facts accurately. Expert advice was always given by their sponsor, Mrs. Schimmel. The regular worries of writing articles, setting up the pages, and meeting deadlines were met with ease. Also the problems of subscriptions and distribution of the finished product was time consuming. The editorial section provided a place for any student to voice his opinion on any issues important to school. Both staffs have in common the motto of "informing the student" on past, present, and future events.

Bitter Start Sweetened By 5 Game Winning Streak

Even before the mighty Lion roamed the gridiron this year, LaSalle enthusiasts envisioned many victories. The Lions were slow starters, however, and dropped two of their first three games. The visions of Lion supremacy faded fast. Then things began to brighten as a core of seasoned veterans led the team to a five game winning streak. An impressive 6-2 record won LaSalle the ranking of 19th in the AP poll, thus bringing the close to an exciting and successful season.

Finishing second in the Northern Indiana Valley Conference, the Lions placed six on the first string All-Conference team, and eleven on the second team and honorable mention. In addition to his NIVC honors, Neil Andrews teamed up with Captain Curt Smith to fill the guard positions on the All-Area team.

The season opener between LaSalle and St. Joseph's was a disappointment to coaches and players alike. The Lions' offense could not seem to get moving and failed to score, while St. Joe struggled to a 14-0 win.

The Lions bounced back to defeat a tough Ft. Wayne Dwenger ball club, the only loss suffered by a team that was ranked in the top ten at the end of the season. Ronnie Bond, a defensive safety man, intercepted a pass and returned it for a touchdown, while Dan McNamee and Jerry Price each added a touchdown for a 19-0 victory.

Quarterback Bill Welsheimer proved his passing ability by throwing a touchdown pass to Pat Sousely in the Clay game, the only bright spot in the evening. Clay held on to win 13-7.

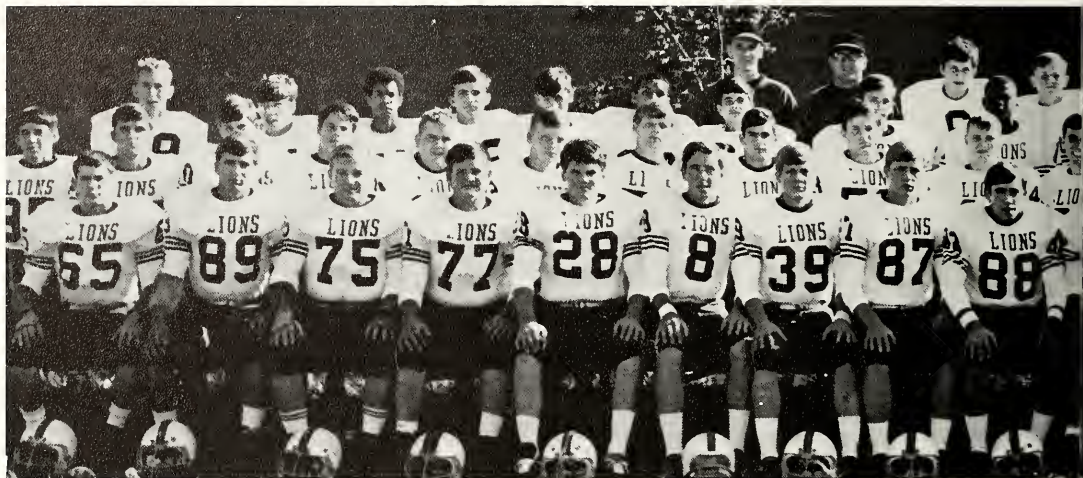

During the Marian game the offense was constantly in enemy territory. The margin of victory proved to be Dan Wojciechowski's two field goals. The 19-13 win over the Knights marked the beginning of LaSalle's five game winning streak.

The Lions showed East Chicago Roosevelt the same kind of hospitality we had received the year before by beating them in a hard fought battle, 13-7.

The following week saw the wagon wheel returned to the Lion trophy case after a particularly delicious 23-7 victory over Penn. It was a fitting finale for a superb football team and a highly successful season.

A plunge by fullback Jerry Peterson in the last minute saved the 7-6 Central game for LaSalle in the most dramatic game of the year.

In the final game, a spectator's delight, even defensive end Roger Williams scored a touchdown in the Lions' 42-34 romp over Penn. It was a fitting finale for a superb football team and a highly successful season.

Larry Cook lays down a bunt and heads for first against Penn.

Coach Rzeszewski and his LaSalle nine started things off on the right foot with back to back victories over Brandywine, but broke their streak with a 1-4 loss to a tough Marian ball club. The Lions then went on to win half of their remaining games, while posting some standout individual performances. Pitcher Bob Wozny held a 5-1 record at the end of the season, to lead the mound corps, while in the hitting department, Larry Cook maintained his .414 conference batting average, and catcher Jim Labis maintained an average of .316 for the season.

Things are looking good for the "69" baseball season as Coach Rzeszewski has nine returning from last year's varsity, and Coach Thompson promises some good material from last year's B-Team to fill positions vacated by graduating seniors. Coach Rzeszewski feels that if this team shows the same spirit and hustle exhibited in 1968, 1969 should see a successful baseball season.

Second in N.I.V.C., Third in City, Fourth in Sectional; Superb Individual Performances

When LaSalle's track team placed 4th in the Washington Invitational, Coach Teegorden hoped for a great 1968 year, but a loss in their first meet to Adams gave him a touch of despair. The Cindermen were determined not to deny Coach Teegorden his wish, and went on to win all but one of their remaining ten meets for a 10-1 season record. In addition to this fine record, the fact that miler Doug Snyder, hurdler, Charles Bryant, pole vaulter Chip Newman, and the mile relay team qualified for the regionals makes for a pretty good season, but it was not without its setbacks. The team suffered a bitter disappointment when they lost the conference championship to Penn by 2 points, finishing second in the conference. The varsity took third in the city, and fourth in the sectional to round out their season.

The Freshman team captured both the city and N.I.V.C. crowns in 1968, while the B-Team compiled an impressive 9-1 record. The year was marked by hard work and a maximum effort by all individuals involved, and although the team will sorely miss last year's seniors, who contributed so much, it is looking forward to an even better season in '69.

Compiling an even 9-9 record in its first season, the LaSalle golf team coached by Mr. Bill Roberts established itself as a team to be reckoned with. With the loss of only two seniors in '68, the team should make a good showing in the 1969 season.

Sheperd, Poul Sims, Dan Harman, James Day, Jim Gergusson, Doug Little, Curt Smith, Mgr. Darrell Preston, and Coach Wegenke.

LaSalle Grapplers Take NIVC Crown with 5-0 Record

Although dropping their first meet 12-32 to Culver, the team struck back beating Central and went on to win their remaining 8 meets capturing the Conference Crown and finishing the season with a 9-1 record. The team was undefeated in Conference competition despite a plague of injuries that might have hindered a team lacking LaSalle's depth. Other highlights of the season were five second places in the Sectional and fine individual records posted by team members.

The B-Team continued their winning ways, compiling an 8-1-1 record and holding the city and NIVC Crowns in their grasp for the second year in a row. The Freshmen also got into the picture grabbing the City Championship. The services of seniors Paul Sims, Dave Sims, Jim Ferguson, Doug Little, Cuty Smith, Larry Grembowicz, Steve Botka, Mike Matuszak, and Gene Elias will be sorely missed. Coach Wegenke and Coach Vargo are comforted by the thought of six returning lettermen and some promising B-Team grapplers which should make for an interesting '69-'70 season. Team members and coaches alike deserve a well done for their winning efforts in 1969.

Tankers Win Seven Straight; Compile 9-4 Record

Team effort was the key to LaSalle's brand of amphibious Lions as they mastered nine of thirteen duel meet rivals. Seven straight victories over Central, Washington, Riley, Mishawaka, Concord, Clay, and Elkhart served notice to the rest of the area that the LaSalle tankers were a team to be respected. State champion Adams dealt the tankers their first loss of the season with the other losses administered by Jackson, Penn, and Culver Military, all powerful teams. Lost for a good portion of the season was Captain Marc Caenepeel who suffered a dislocated knee, but great individual efforts by Mark Bednarek, Jim Kytta, and many other swimmers led the tankers to a successful season.

With the graduation of this year's class, Coach Al Thompson's 1969-70 squad will have plenty of holes to fill as eleven seniors depart. Services of Gary Beard, Marc Caenepeel, Mark Bednarek, Buddy Cox, Terry Lang, Tim Freeburn, Rich Ranay, Phil Schermerhorn, Dave Miller, Jeff Schrader, and Dick Kuehl will be missed.

Up, Down Season Holds Thrilling Victories, Agonizing Defeats

The 1968-69 Basketball season was one filled with ups and downs, as the Cagers won 10 out of 22 regularly scheduled games to finish 4th in the conference. Coach Rensberger had an experienced group of ball players from which he formed his team, some of whom had participated in two to three previous varsity basketball seasons. Experience was important to the '68-'69 team for lacking height, they had to play a fast-moving game to overcome their handicap. A sure-footed attitude helped the team to move more smoothly and effectively. This type of play paid off in the Lions' first encounter as they handed the Cloy Colonials an 80-57 defeat. LaSalle then faced a tough Goshen ball club and came up on the short end of a 72-91 game. The Cagers made a strong showing in their next two games, rushing past Plymouth and Adams while anticipating what proved to be the closest and most exciting games of the season.

The Central game proved to be a back and forth battle which saw the hungry Lions devour Central's Bears by a score of 82-81 in the closing seconds. Denny Nowicki, who holds the team's best free throw percentage at 71%, did a comparable job from the floor scoring 19 precious points during the Central game and was one of the main factors in LaSalle's victory. But Nowicki's hot hand could not pull off a victory for LaSalle in the Holiday Tourney as the team failed to rally around his 28 points in the Washington game and fell a 66-73 loser to St. Joe. The team couldn't get moving for three games following the tourney as Elkhart, Fort Wayne, and Bishop Luers found weak spots in LaSalle's defense and took full ad-

The team also suffered a big set back when Denny Nowicki, who had been shooting in the 20's, fell ill and was lost for about three weeks. The Cagers managed to overcome their loss and found a fine scorer in Curtis Lake who eventually became the team's top scorer and rebounder for the season. LaSalle's well-balanced attack still proved to be most effective when the Lions avenged Washington 61-46 with Kevin Fitzgerald grabbing 22 rebounds and Chuck Henderson pouring in 17 points.

A satisfying victory over Jackson saw LaSalle maintain possession of the "Big Shot" as Steve Madison scored 15 points. A loss to Penn was followed by victories over Chester-ton, Mishawaka, and Bremen. Sophomore Alvin Armstrong managed to pump in 21 points during the Chester-ton game and 18 during the victory over Bremen, while Curtis Lake pulled 20 off the boards. The Lions then ran into a streak of bad luck losing their next four games.

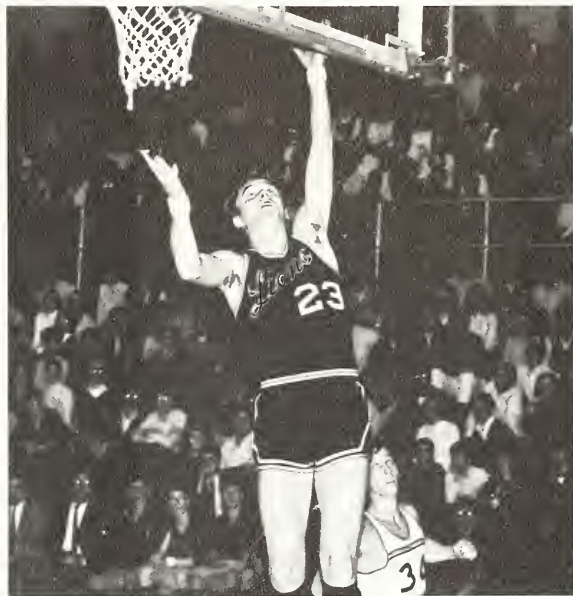

LaSalle looked impressive in the first Sectional game, clouting Clay by a score of 77-48, but hopes of a Sectional crown were shattered when the Cagers failed to pull a repeat performance on a tough Central ball club.

Coach Coddens' B-Team was NIVC co-champion with a 15-5 record, while the Freshmen coached by Mr. Miller, maintained a 12-9 record for the season. These players will find big shoes to fill in the 1969-'70 season with LaSalle losing the "Big Shot" to seniors Denny Nowicki, Mike Haase, Curtis Lake, Jerry Remble, Chuck Henderson, and Ralph Hay.

can you imagine building today's autos by hand?

Back in the old days, that's the way they did it. Automatic presses didn't stamp out whole auto bodies and engine blocks in seconds. There were no automated assembly lines for mass production and no precision machine tools.

Automatic machines brought greatly reduced labor cost and new accuracy and speed in production. The result is a far better product than by hand and at a lower cost for the car-buying American public. Now almost everyone has a new car and some two or three.

Automation has given us the highest standard of living in the world and the greatest degree of individual freedom.

At I&M, automated methods have enabled us to provide many more new jobs; to improve our methods of generating and delivering electricity; and to provide our customers with improved, low-cost electric service in the bargain.
